Albemarle Speech & Language Center Opens New Therapy Facility In Elizabeth City.

Co-Locating With Occupational Therapy Practice Creates Unique & Synergistic Therapy Approach For All Age Groups In Need Of Rehabilitative Speech-Language And Occupational Therapies.

Elizabeth City, NC April 16, 2007 – Albemarle Speech & Language Center, LLC is pleased to announce that it has opened a new Speech-Language Therapy facility in Elizabeth City. Located at 1241 N. Road St. across from the Albemarle YMCA, Albemarle Speech & Language Center (ASLC) now shares a spacious and conveniently located facility with the Therapy House PLLC, a private Occupational Therapy practice.

By facility sharing with other rehabilitative therapy disciplines, ASLC now offers its patients more comprehensive treatment capabilities and options, particularly for those in need of a multi-disciplinary approach. ASLC owner and head Speech Pathologist Hilary Dietrich stated, “We are very happy with the spaciousness and convenience of the new facility for our Speech-Language patients. And now with multiple therapy/treatment areas, patients in need of combined therapies will be able to benefit from addressing sensory and social skills issues at the same time.”

Albemarle Speech and Language Center, LLC is a private Speech-Language Therapy practice founded by Hilary A Dietrich, M.S. Ed, CCC-SLP in 2004. ASLC’s Speech Pathologists serve all ages, and can be found rendering caring, compassionate and sensitive Speech-Language therapy in many settings – within area schools, in home health settings, and on an outpatient basis in their brand new facility. ASLC is proud of its accomplishments and its emphasis with pediatric / adolescent populations, particularly among those with moderate to severe developmental delays.
